BAHRAIN

Bahrain is establishing full diplomatic relations with Israel, US President Donald Trump announced Friday, making it the second Gulf country to do so in less than a month.

A joint statement released by the White House said Bahrain's King Hamad bin Salman al-Khalifa spoke earlier in the day with Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu "and agreed to the establishment of full diplomatic relations between Israel and the Kingdom of Bahrain."

"Another HISTORIC breakthrough today! Our two GREAT friends Israel and the Kingdom of Bahrain agree to a Peace Deal - the second Arab country to make peace with Israel in 30 days!" Trump tweeted.

OMAN

Oman welcomes Bahrain's decision to normalize relations with Israel and hopes it will contribute to Israeli-Palestinian peace, Oman state media said on Sunday. "[Oman] hopes this new strategic path taken by some Arab countries will contribute to bringing about a peace based on an end to the Israeli occupation of Palestinian lands and on establishing an independent Palestinian state with East Jerusalem as capital," the government statement said.

Israel's intelligence minister said a few days after the UAE-Israel accord was announced on Aug. 13 that Oman could also formalize ties with the country.

EU ABSENCE

While the EU issued a statement supporting the peace agreements between Israel and its Arab neighbors, the EU statement focused on "a negotiated and viable two-state solution built upon the internationally agreed parameters," a clear reference to Palestinian demands.

The reason for the lack of EU diplomats at the signing on Tuesday remains unclear, however, many member states have remained hostile to the Trump administration and for the most part support the Palestinians in their conflict with Israel.

The Palestinians for their part have condemned in no uncertain terms the peace agreements between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

PA RESPONSE

Palestinian Authority Prime Minister Mohammad Shtayyeh has called on Arab states to boycott Tuesday's signing ceremony, which he described as "a black day... that will be added to the Palestinian calendar of pain."

Shtayyeh's call came as the PA's ruling Fatah party and the Hamas terrorist group urged Palestinians to stage protests against the deals.

More than a dozen rockets were fired from Gaza into Israel over the past day, beginning during the White House ceremony yesterday. Six Israelis were wounded – including a father of 15 handing out food to the needy. The IDF struck sites in Gaza in response.

WORSHIP PROTEST

The City of Seattle shut down a local park in advance of a massive gathering of Christian worshippers. Christians were banned from the park, but not BLM or Antifa.

The organizers could have completely canceled the event, but instead they decided to take it to the streets and rebrand it as a "worship protest"... But instead of canceling the event, the Christians simply relocated the service to the street and called it a "worship protest."

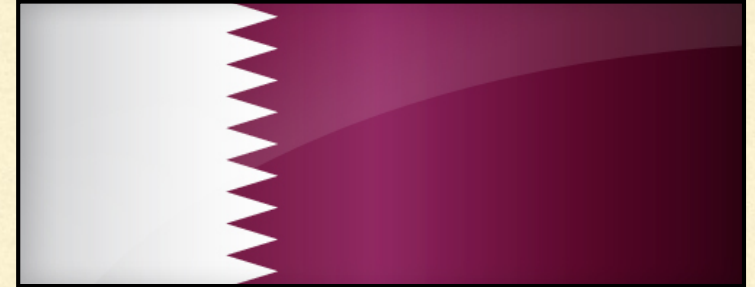

It was wonderful to see such a diverse group of people all worshipping the Lord together under a beautiful blue sky. But you can be sure that officials in Seattle will be brainstorming ways that they can prevent such a thing from happening again. Hatred of Christians is rapidly rising all over the globe, and it is going to get a whole lot worse in the years ahead. Sadly, the corporate-controlled media will almost certainly continue to ignore the persecution that is happening because it definitely does not fit any of the agendas that they are trying to push.

QATAR / HAMAS

No Guaranteed for Payouts to Hamas

Things have changed and we can't keep on doing things the old way, said the Emir Of Qatar, Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad al-Thani. It is reported that he has instructed his aides to inform the Hamas that the continued flow of Qatari cash to the Gaza Strip's impoverished population was no longer guaranteed. The latest transfer of $30 million was not a policy, he warned, but a one-off. The terrorist group was given a stern caution by its Doha paymaster: The Americans and Israelis are not kidding around this time around, he said, adding for good measure: It does not seem as if Trump is going to lose the presidential elections. (Arab states submit to the new political reality!)

SAEB EREKAT

Harvard recently announced four new fellows for the school's Future of Diplomacy Project. Saeb Erekat, Chief Palestinian Negotiator and Head of the Negotiations Department of the Palestine Liberation organization is joining the school for the 2020-2021 academic year. Saeb Erekat, a Palestinian politician who is also an architect of the infamous 400 million dollar a year Martyr's Fund.

This is a Palestinian government program that pays salaries to terrorists, in part by using foreign aid money from tax dollars.

The fact that Harvard has chosen Erekat as a fellow regarding "the future of diplomacy" and that he will share his "expertise" about the Israeli-Palestinian conflict is nothing short of a travesty and perhaps even a deliberate decision to sway Harvard students against Israel.
